COVEROS
CODE
CAMP
2020
CODE WILD CODE FREE

We invite you to apply your software engineering and computer science skills to help refine Coveros' open-source DevOps and testing software. This summer, gain valuable work experience working with engineering professionals while having the support of familiar faculty and contributing to the software community at large.

Coveros Code Camp provides you with the opportunity to:

- Learn and apply the latest DevOps techniques
- Hone valuable, career-building presentation skills
- Receive a stipend for doing what you love
- Gain real-world experience building software in a professional, team environment
- Attend Coveros' internal brown bag sessions to learn about the latest techniques in the industry
- Interact with and be mentored by industry professionals who have been where you are heading
- Learn about distributed and virtual software project management

APPLY NOW!

Interested in spending your summer gaining valuable insights into software engineering and getting paid for it? Apply here:

bit.ly/coveros-code-camp

coveros